V Annual PhD students' conference DEcIDE Doctorate Programme

Call for papers

November 19^h and 20th, 2020

General information

The doctorate programme DEcIDE organises the V Annual doctoral students' conference that will be held completely on-line. The conference comprehends two different tracks:

- Seminarios novel, aimed for presentations of 1st and 2nd year students.
- Jornadas anuales, aimed for presentations of 3rd and subsequent years.

In any case, the organizing committee may re-assign any proposal on the basis how developed is the submitted research.

The meeting is organized by Universidad de Murcia and will be held on November the 19th and the 20th, 2020.

Students on their third year in the programme are especially encouraged to attend the conference but any student enrolled in the programme should attend (please check your compulsory list of activities for the PhD Programme).

The event is part of the programming of specific training activities of the DEcIDE programme and has the following objectives:

- Experience exchange among doctoral students of the different branches of knowledge, with the participation of faculty and students, encouraging debate and communication
- Discussion of the current problems of doctoral students from different fields of economics
- Dissemination of the research activity to doctoral students, members of university community, companies and society
- Developing the ability to exhibit and disseminate research results carried out in the doctoral thesis.
- Promoting creative abilities of study and research among PhD students
- Highlighting the value of Doctoral degree in access to the labour market

The languages of the conference are English and Spanish, although the scientific committee encourages presenting in English.

Each presentation is intended to last 30 minutes: 20 minutes for author(s)'s presentation, 5 minutes for discussion, and 5 minutes for questions from the audience. In the line with previous conferences, the role of the discussant is included in order to encourage student participation and to provide feedback about the papers presented. Then, students presenting a paper can be requested to serve as discussants of a paper which will be sent to them previously to the conference.

Moreover, as the conference is part of the actividades formativas, students have to attend sessions during the two conference days to get the certificate of attendance.

Fees

There is no fee to attend nor to present a paper in the conference.

Submissions

The submission must include:

- A title page containing full name of the author(s) and affiliation, whether it is submitted for Seminarios novel or Jornadas anuales, an abstract, keywords and JEL codes.
- In a maximum of 1,500 words, the motivation, research methodology, some results or conclusions as well as brief bibliography of the proposal.

Submissions will be sent through web page
